MONROE, N.C. (June 1, 2018) – Michelle McCarver, Administrative Assistant for Union County Public Works Water and Wastewater Operations, was honored by the North Carolina Rural Water Association (NCRWA) on Wednesday at the organization's 2018 Annual Conference and Exhibition. McCarver received the Award for Administrative Excellence for her exceptional dedication and support of her colleagues.

"It's in incredible honor to receive this award," said McCarver. "I'm lucky to work with such a great team and this award is a reflection of their support and devotion. I'm thrilled to be recognized and appreciate my team for making all of this possible."

The Award for Administrative Excellence recognizes a person that has enhanced the performance of the operation of their water or wastewater system through innovative work practices, administrative leadership, and support for system operations. McCarver was selected among a list of several nominees across North Carolina.

"Michelle performs a large variety of assignments supporting the whole team," said Andy Neff, Water and Wastewater Division Director for Union County Public Works. "She keeps our team running smoothly and has proven to be an instrumental asset for Public Works. She has made our organization stronger through her hard work and we're all very excited to see her receive this honor."

Michelle got her start with Union County Public Works in 2014, working in Billing and Customer Service before taking on her current role in 2015.
